DETAILED ACTION

This is the First Office Action in response to the above identified patent application filed on September 15, 2006.

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Specification

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

3. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the implied phrase "The invention relates" should be deleted. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 2-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

a. Claim 2, the limitation "the angles which lie opposite one another between the two upper side faces and the two lower side faces are cut off at right angles with respect to the axis of symmetry" is not fully understood.

b. Claim 3, the term "preferably" is not understood. Specifically, it is unclear as to whether the "perpendicularly inserted holes" are being positively claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grunze et al. (USP 5,582,483) in view of Rader (USP 3,667,821).

Referring to Figures 15-16, Grunze et al. discloses a pin cage for a double-row self-aligning roller bearing, comprising an inner ring (22) and an outer ring (30) and a plurality of rollers (54) which run between the inner ring and outer ring in two rows next to one another on raceways, a pin cage (206) is arranged between the two rows of rollers, the pin cage is configured, on its axial sides, with pins (194,198) which are fastened offset to one another at uniform spacing and in a stepped manner, each of the rollers having one axial hole, via which each of the rollers are mounted rotatably on one pin of the pin cage, wherein the pin cage is configured as a preassembled component without a side disk, and comprises a single piece, closed annular disk and pins which protrude axially freely away from the disk and the length of which is smaller than the length of the holes in the rollers.

Grunze et al. does not disclose the rollers having through holes, however it was known in the art to form rollers with through holes for accommodating positioning pins. For example, the prior art to Rader illustrates in Figure 2 a plurality of rollers (18,20) formed with through holes (37) for accommodating positioning pins (60), as taught by Rader, motivation being simplify the manufacture and/or assembly of the bearing, wherein either side of the rollers can be positioned on the pin.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 2-6 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
